MICHAELMAS TERM 2017

O Lord! What next?

'Radical Inclusion'

The Chapel is open daily as a quiet space and for private prayer

Radical Inclusion

After rancorous disagreements at Synod (the Church's governing council), the Archbishop of Canterbury appealed for a radical new inclusion in the Church. The Archbishop concluded: "The way forward needs to be about love, joy and celebration of our humanity; of our creation in the image of God, of our belonging to Christ - all of us, without exception, without exclusion." This term we will explore what radical new inclusion might mean both for the one who is welcomed and for the welcomer. Both are changed in the process of inclusion.

O Lord! What next?

This Term's Charity: SolidariTee

This term the Chapel collection will be given to SolidariTee, a charity which sells custom T-shirts in order to raise awareness and funds for legal aid for refugees in Europe. SolidariTee hopes that with legal aid, refugees will be guaranteed the safety and security which they deserve.

Please contact Saskia Thomas if you would like to know more.

A collection will be taken for Solidaritee. The refugee crisis's presence in the media may be dwindling, but the number of deaths and human rights abuses is still rising in refugee camps and detention centres across Greece. Solidaritee is a nationally growing non-profit student initiative that uses group mentality to promote collective student support for refugees on European soil whilst raising money for the charity Advocates Abroad. This is an NGO that provides legal aid and representation for refugees in Greece and Turkey. This is done by purchasing a £10 T-shirt that is accompanied by a photo campaign, ending with a Day of Solidaritee where the shirts are worn by everyone to raise awareness. This £10 buys one night of accommodation for a human rights lawyer in Greece. It costs £2.20 to manufacture and ship each shirt; we are asking for donations so that we can donate the full £10 of the price to Advocates Abroad, ensuring that all money spent goes to this deserving cause. If you would like some more information on the campaign, do not hesitate to contact LMH representative, Saskia Thomas (Saskia.Thomas@LMH.ox.ac.uk) or visit the Facebook or GoFundMe pages:
